Destination Overview

Haciendas —large rural estates— were the epicenter of Mexico’s economic and social life for over three centuries during the Colonial period. They were a symbol of economic grandeur, cultural splendor and architectural worth.

Recently transformed into a sophisticated hotel, it features 18 historic suites that fuse contemporary details with local touches, and 36 brand new, exquisitely-designed suites as part of the hacienda expansión in 2022, offering the effortless harmony between nature and modern spaces.

Hacienda Xcanatun by Angsana is surrounded by four acres of private gardens, filled with lush vegetation and bright tropical flowers that highlight the beauty that made it one of the most important haciendas in the Yucatan. Our iconic “Casa de Piedra” restaurant, serving regional and spontaneous cuisine, is a traditional favorite among locals.

Our 18 suites are a current and contemporary reinterpretation of the legendary sisal haciendas and of the Mayan culture itself.

As part of the hacienda expansion unveiling this July, the 36 brand new suites are designed using a unique mixture of austere and avant-garde elements such as natural wood, leather, regional limestone and native pasta tile floor traditionally found in henequen haciendas, offering functionality, comfort and contemporary elegance that transcends.

Each detail is intended to create a complete experience in an environment of tranquility and comfort. A place where inspiration emerges from the sounds of nature and the aromas of the exuberant gardens.
