CORFU

THE LAMPRI EXPERIENCE

Easter in Corfu is not simply a celebration. It is a living ritual of light, renewal, and transformation, found nowhere else in Greece.

Throughout Holy Week, the island comes alive through sound, movement, and devotion. Marching Philharmonic Bands echo through its streets, the Holy Shrine of Saint Spyridon is carried in reverence, and the sky fills with light on Holy Saturday. In a moment both powerful and symbolic, the clay pots, the Botides, are shattered, a release of the old, making space for the new.

This is Lambri.

At Angsana Corfu, we have curated this time not simply as a program, but as a journey into the true meaning of Lambri.

THE LAMPRI EXPERIENCE

Through thoughtfully curated experiences, we guide you into the most meaningful moments of Corfu's Easter, allowing you to move between the living traditions of the island and a more intimate experience of Lambri within the resort.

Yet Lambri does not only exist in the town. Within Angsana Corfu, we embody its spirit.

Through wellness rituals, cultural expressions, and shared moments of celebration, we create a parallel journey, one that reflects the deeper meaning of Lambri as a return to light.

Moments of release and renewal unfold through practices such as Theta Healing, inviting a gentle letting go and a reconnection to inner clarity. Through Acro Yoga and partner movement, connection is rediscovered, both with oneself and with one another.

Acts of creation become symbolic ceremonies within the hotel. The painting of the Botides, offered as part of our curated experiences, reflects the island's tradition, while their ceremonial breaking within the resort becomes a moment of transformation, a conscious release of what no longer serves, making space for renewal.

THE LAMPRI EXPERIENCE

Throughout the resort, music becomes a thread of Lambri. A solo cello performance on Good Friday invites a moment of reflection and quiet introspection, connecting to the deeper meaning of the day. Live performances on Holy Saturday, a curated musical journey across the regions of Greece on Easter Sunday, and moments of sound throughout the celebration carry memory, culture, and a sense of shared awakening.

Gastronomy becomes ritual. A festive Holy Saturday dinner accompanied by live music, a vibrant Easter Sunday lunch infused with culture and sound, and a curated Easter Monday brunch, a gentle continuation of the celebration inspired by

RITUALS OF LAMPRI AT ANGSANA CORFU

A sequence of rituals curated to release, restore and gently prepare body and mind for Awakening and the arrival of the Holy Light. Unfolding throughout the week, each experience reflects the essence of Lambri.

Monday, April 6

7pm | Vinyasa Yoga Flow

Begin the Lambri journey through movement and breath. This Vinyasa flow invites the release of tension and stored emotion, gently grounding the body while creating space for renewal. A moment to arrive, to soften and to reconnect from within.

Complimentary

Tuesday, April 7

9am | A Journey to Spring

A guided journey into the spring landscape of Corfu. Walk through lush hills, waterfalls, and ancient paths, discovering local herbs, flowers, and the aromas of the season. As nature awakens, so does the spirit. This experience invites a deeper connection to the land of Corfu, its elements and the quiet presence that lives within it, leading to a secluded chapel nestled in the forest.
